EOS imaging Announces New Sale to Advocate Good Samaritan Hospital in the United States

First EOS® system in the Advocate Healthcare hospital network, the largest health system in Illinois

Paris, June 29, 2016 - EOS imaging (Euronext, FR0011191766 – EOSI), the pioneer in 2D/3D orthopedic medical imaging, today announced the sale of an EOS system to Advocate Good Samaritan Hospital in Downers Grove, Illinois, outside of Chicago. The hospital is a member of Advocate Healthcare, a hospital network which performs more than 18,000 hip, knee and spine procedures per year<sup>1</sup>.

Advocate Healthcare hospital network is the largest health system in Illinois with 13 hospitals, including two pediatric hospitals and nine adult hospitals active in orthopedic care. The network has evolved into a nationally recognized health care leader and appeared on the 100 Top Hospitals list six times over the past seven years. In addition, it remains the only health care provider in Illinois to have earned the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award – the highest Presidential honor for performance excellence<sup>2</sup>.

Marie Meynadier, CEO of EOS imaging, commented, “We are pleased that the EOS system and related treatment planning services are now available to patients in the greater Chicago area through the Good Samaritan Hospital and broader Advocate Healthcare network. This is another example of a prominent healthcare organization adopting our technology, providing validation in the market and additional growth potential. To-date, seven of these large networks have acquired two or more EOS platforms<sup>3</sup>, contributing to our strong adoption momentum in the United States.”
